

VOTE FOR BILL DALEY

"Please vote for Bill Daley for mayor. He will lower our taxes. He [will/ sign/ hang] guarantee free health care for the elderly," [grip/ said/ into] Veronica. She passed pamphlets out to passersby [try/ on/ do] the corner of Hampton and Third Streets. [And/ Her/ Time] father was running for mayor. She promised [add/ to/ far] help him in any way that [had/ feel/ she] could. It all had started when Bill Daley had realized [on/ jar/ how] much his father had to pay [winter/ every/ looked] time he went to the doctor. Grandpa Daley [had/ see/ ten] health insurance but it did not [bolt/ gas/ seem] to pay as much as it [should/ knock/ stair]. This made Bill very angry. He decided [to/ for/ in] do something about it.

Running for [songs/ most/ mayor] was his way of getting this message [mouse/ across/ route] to the public. Veronica was very [fort/ proud/ tree] of her father for doing it. "[Off/ Let/ It] will be an exciting thing to [do/ at/ sip] and I know I can count [am/ on/ be] you to help me," he said [win/ get/ to] Veronica.

Veronica started by going to [the/ and/ over] printing shop. She ordered two hundred [drive/ sheets/ chair] with her father's picture on it. Underneath [oven/ the/ into] picture it read, "If Daley Wins, [Hut/ Saw/ We] All Win!" Veronica walked up and [many/ down/ way] the streets of the city. She [list/ from/ asked] the permission of store owners to [year/ word/ place] a picture in their store windows. [Knob/ Many/ And] of them said that it would [cut/ be/ fan] fine. She taped them up with masking [tape/ came/ few]. Soon, everyone saw the face of Bill Daley [in/ sat/ you] the windows.

One afternoon, a newscaster [night/ true/ from] a local television station knocked on [city/ how/ the] door of the Daley's home and [seven/ asked/ them] for permission to interview Mr. Daley. Bill [was/ dim/ put] delighted, and they conducted the interview [my/ in/ be] the family's kitchen.

"I intend to [lower/ canal/ grass] taxes and insure free health care [been/ for/ mist] the elderly and other such important [issues/ which/ bright]," said Bill Daley. He explained that Grandfather Daley [fly/ one/ had] expensive medical bills and that he [no/ had/ sack] to live with his son, Bill, [want/ more/ and] his granddaughter, Veronica. The television station [played/ quiet/ prince] this interview on the six o'clock [fair/ news/ cat] that evening. Everyone seemed to agree [take/ were/ with] what Mr. Daley had said.

The election [fist/ was/ leg] held the following week. Bill Daley [fit/ won/ mask] many votes. However, the current mayor [won/ giant/ block] by a large margin. "I respect [tell/ you/ moan] for what you tried to do, Mr. Daley. [Do/ Up/ I] will not ignore what you were trying [vet/ was/ to] say. I want your help in working [be/ fat/ on] the cost of medical care to [the/ are/ up] senior citizens," said the mayor. Bill [snap/ and/ here] Veronica smiled because they knew that [jelly/ they/ used] had achieved what they had set [gum/ jar/ out] to do.
